Terrain: The three terrains are completely different from each other. Two of the terrains (E3, E4 and E5) have never been used for orienteering before!

E1-E2 - Pirtó-Lovastanya

The event terrains near Pirtó shaped with quicksand which formed by the wind. This varying terrain has a relatively small height difference with a level difference of 10-20m, thus the map was made with a basic level spacing of 2m contour. In the area forest patches are alternated with grassy open land. Pine forests of different ages with varied runnability are characteristic feature of the terrain.

E3 – Selymes-Pirtó

The nature of the terrain is determined by the intensive forestry extraction of the area: dense network of tracks and mostly young pine forests with limited runnability. Large areas covered with loose and deep sand with several parallel earth walls due to the new afforestation. Older pine forests are easily runnable. The semi-open areas with diverse vegetation (including juniper) are isolated. The land is slightly corrugated, larger steep-sided mounds are rarely occurred.

E4-E5 - Soltvadkert-Selymes

This new terrain, hitherto unknown to orienteers, contains all the features and beauties of the Kiskunság: in some places the terrain is detailed; the sand dunes are forming an enriched landscape. Young and middle-aged pine forests are laced with open lands. Open parts with scattered junipers offer easy runnability. It is a grove of varied vegetation, with juniper labyrinths in several places and exciting landforms. Varying natural deciduous forests are usually less runnable. The network of the road is mean while the pattern of footpath can be found only in the western part where the terrain covered with continuous forest. There network of the roads is dense due to the offroad activities.

The courses of the two days utilize different parts of the terrain, only the finish area is the same.

Leisure activities: Finish Arenas can be reached from accomodations in 20-30 minutes enabling enough time in the EC for leisure activities, accompanying events, beach parties and relaxing.

Former Hungaria Cup events organized by us: 1994 Kiskunhalas, 2002 Kiskunmajsa, 2008 Tata, 2016 Miskolc.
