Parking:

On the side of the gravel road leading to the race center, according to the instructions of the parking staff.

Parking- race center distance: 30-200 m.

Terrain:

Typical middle mountain terrain with moderate elevation differences.

In addition to the well-run forest areas and small patches of thickets, there are also stone fields called "devil's plowing" characteristic of Gerecse. Running through this, and the strengthened vegetation, require increased attention.

Active forest management is taking place in the area, as a result of which fence elements lie on the ground in several places. The harder-to-see remains of the fence are marked with red/white tape.

The last time there was a race in the field was in the 80s.
